Educational Impact for the Community

High quality family time

Free general admission draws visitors to enjoy live animal displays and natural history exhibits in our family-friendly facility.

"I had never been to the nature center before and I will say I was impressed. A small but mighty amount of exhibits and the staff was so kind. I will definitely visit again."

Help for injured animals

Wildlife professionals serve the community by treating injured wildlife, with the goal of release, and operate with permits from federal, state, and local agencies.

"Thank you for caring for the injured opossum I brought in and being there when she needed help. We appreciate all that you do for local wildlife."

Nature-based preschool discovery

Nature-based preschool programs encourage children to develop an attitude of inquiry and respect for the natural world while integrating science, math, literacy, and the arts.

"My kids loved the visit. So happy to have this in their lives. Excellent experience. Thank you!"

Astronomy and space science

See constellations in the night sky and observe the universe with interactive space science programs at the Schuele planetarium, one of two publicly accessible domes in Greater Cleveland.

"Our experience was outstanding. Our group ranged in ages 3 to 73 and each of us learned something new."
